Last week Burney Finch, of this creek, traded a house and lot in Campton, which is known as the Henry Garrison property, to B. T. Gosney for a tract of land near Gosneyville.

The writer had occasion to be at Heleehawa Friday of last week and found that the road between that point and Hazel Green was absolutely dangerous to travel, especially to drive over.

The reason our last week's letter was not received at your office in due time was that the mail carrier on this route did not stop and get it from the rural mail box until it had laid there over Monday and Tuesday.

George Culbertson informed the correspondent Sunday that Wiley Perkins, who recently detained Myrtle Trent and his own daughter, has not been captured. A writ was issued and placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff George Byrd.

George L. Athey, of Campton, who was the Republican candidate for circuit court clerk at the recent election, eloped one day last week with the 18-year-old daughter of Douglas Evans and took her to Jeffersonville, Ind., where they were married. They returned to Campton.

Nov. 29. HILDRED.

Alone in Sawmill at Midnight

Unmindful of dampness, drafts, storms or cold, W. J. Atkins worked as night watchman at Banner Springs, Tenn. Such exposure gave him a severe cold that settled in his lungs. At last he had to give up work. He tried many remedies but all failed till he used Dr. King's New Discovery. "After using one bottle," he writes, "I went back to work as well as ever." Severe colds, stubborn coughs, inflamed throats and sore lungs. Hemorrhages, croup and whooping cough get quick relief and prompt cure from this glorious medicine. 50¢ and $1.00. Trial bottle free, guaranteed by all dealers.

Nov. 29.

Another Correspondent Writes:

Mrs. Rebecca Lindon and son-in-law, Reese Lindon, passed thru here Sunday.

The Graham job is making splendid progress. They will complete it by next August.

Cager Center, one of our former good citizens, merchant and postmaster but now of Paducah, reports the birth of a fine girl to his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Hammons, who went to Oklahoma about a year ago, returned home Saturday on the late train, a delay being made by a wreck on the O. & K.

George Center lost a hog Monday which would have weighed about 250 pounds by its bowels looking. This may seem strange to some, but it is a fact as the hog was inspected.

Lawrence Oney and Clifford Sloan, two young men who were accused of starting the fire which burned about 200 panels of fence belonging to Dick Lindon, were tried and fined $25 each.

Our prayer meeting seems to be progressing very nicely since our boys have quit coming out intoxicated. We are proud of it as it is better than to keep it up and have to answer in circuit court for disturbances.

Nov. 29. J. L. C.

W. C. and Grant Rose, General and John Dalton, and Garland Bolin, all of this neighborhood, are at Elmdorf farm, near Lexington, working in the dairy.

The largest boiler that has ever been seen in the mountains passed through here today (Monday). It is being taken to the C. H. Loveland band mill, at the head of Stillwater.

E. T. Kash has just put up a new pair of stock scales, which will be a great convenience to the farmers of this section, and he will begin enlarging the main building of his store next Monday.

Nov. 29. ANON.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75¢. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

DORSIE.

Good Roads Votes.

The votes of 24 counties in Kentucky were not included in the tabulations on the Bosworth-Wyatt good roads amendment of the constitution. The votes of some of the counties were not in, others were telegraphed in, and still others were signed up so that the state election commission would not count them as regular.

The majority is only 5,940, so that the vote of the 24 counties not counted may defeat the amendment, although it has been declared passed by the election commission.

The Court of Appeals may be asked to decide whether or not the statute providing for the commission to meet the third Monday after the election in November and canvass the returns is directory or mandatory.

The overwhelming majorities given the amendment in some of the mountain counties may be investigated.

PENSION LIST

Was the Largest Ever Paid by the Government and Continues to Grow.

Washington, November 28.—The great total of $161,972,702 77 was disbursed by the United States government for pensions during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1909, the largest sum ever paid out in a twelve-month period by this government. This fact was made public today in the report of the Secretary of the Interior Richard A. Ballinger.

It will be an amazing revelation to the people that the pension roll is still increasing 44 years after the conclusion of the civil war, even taking into account the number of new names being added by reason of the more recent skirmish with Spain, as it was announced, three years ago, that the apex had been reached, and that the pension roll would decrease much faster than it increased during the period following the civil war and the amendments and new acts affecting the pensioning of old soldiers.

Secretary Ballinger states that since the foundation of the government, there has been disbursed for pensions to soldiers, sailors and marines, their widows and dependents, the sum of $3,912,082,513 73, of which amount $96,445 22 was paid prior to June 30, 1865. Since that date, pension payments have increased from $15,450,540 88 in 1866 to $171,973,703 77 in 1909. The act of February 6, 1909, granting pensions of $12, $15 and $20 per month to the survivors of the Mexican war and the civil war on reaching the ages of 62, 70, and 75 years, respectively, has added a number of pensioners to the roll. The last surviving soldier of the Revolutionary war died April 5, 1860, and the last surviving widow of that war died November 11, 1906. The name of one daughter of a soldier of the Revolution, pensioned by a special act of congress, still remains on the roll. The last pensioned soldier of the war of 1812, died May 12, 1905, but the pension rolls still contain the names of 393 widows of soldiers of that war.

Special acts of congress granting pensions and increases having added greatly to the sum paid out annually above the requirements of the regular pension laws. The total number of pensioners on the rolls at the end of the fiscal year was 946,194, a decrease of 5,493 from the first of the same year.

A Great Chestnut.

There is probably no man engaged in the newspaper business in this state who is not acquainted with a man whose excuse for discontinuing his subscription is that he already "has more papers than he can read." It is only an excuse offered to ameliorate the presumed lacerated condition of the editor's feeling. It has no such effect, for in the first place an editor never worries over the loss of a subscriber except when he leaves the country without paying up arrearages. But why not be truthful and say to the honest newspaper man just what you feel in your heart. Go into his den, ask him how much you owe, pay the delinquency and tell him frankly that you don't want his disreputable, blackguard sheet any longer. Say to him in a sorrowful tone of voice that you deeply regret his inability to publish a newspaper worthy the name and advise him to sell his plant to some man with a thimble full of brains and seek some occupation which does not require much wear or tear of mind. Do this and then you can go away with the comforting assurance that the editor respects you for your candor and will cherish no hard feelings because you choose to borrow his paper instead of buying it.

More Shooting Scrapes.

Jackson, Ky., Nov. 28.—News has just reached here from Wolfe county that Dug Hays, who was the well known bodyguard of Beech Hargis and a life long friend of the late James Hargis, was shot and seriously wounded in Wolfe county Thursday. The report received here is that Hays was shot in the back and through the lungs by a drunken man from whom Hays had taken a pistol shortly before. With the promise that he would put the pistol in his pocket and go home the pistol was given back to him when he immediately turned and fired on Hays. The name of the other person has not been learned.

Lawson Campbell was shot and killed by John Morgan Fugate on Caney creek, near Clay Hole, in Breathitt county, Thursday. The trouble leading to the killing has not yet been learned here.

Don't.

Don't ask the editor to publish a list of wedding gifts.

Don't add to the terrors of death by tacking several stanzas of doggerel to a death notice. Don't crowd the mourners.

Don't lug old clippings into a newspaper office and tell the editor that you have brought him "something to fill up with." Take him a cabbage; he can fill up with that.

Sitting in the end of a church pew, don't get up to admit others. Move along.

Don't kick a map when he is down unless you are sure that he will never get up again.

Don't put lard on a man's shoes when you see a man "going down hill." They are already greased for the occasion.

Don't pray with the hungry man until you have given him something to eat. Prayer without pork availeth not.

AMERICA'S GREATEST WEEKLY.

THE TOLEDO BLADE, TOLEDO, OHIO.

The Best Known Newspaper in the United States.

CIRCULATION, - - - 200,000

Popular in Every State.

The seventy-fourth year of its existence finds the Toledo Blade more popular than at any period of its remarkable career. It is now read each week by more than a million people. Its field is not circumscribed by State boundaries, but in the length and breadth of the United States, giving it an unquestionable right of claiming to be the greatest national weekly newspaper in the country.

The Weekly Blade is distinctly a family newspaper. The one object of its publishers has always been to make it fit for the American home, for the fireside, and of interest to every member of the family. To fulfill this purpose it is kept clean and wholesome. The news of the world is handled in a comprehensive manner, and the various departments of the Blade are edited with painstaking care. The Household page is a delight to the women and children; current affairs are treated editorially without prejudice; the serial stories are selected with the idea of pleasing the greatest number of fiction lovers; the Question Bureau is a scrapbook of information; the Farmstead columns are conducted with the purpose of giving the patrons a medium for the exchange of ideas and information on farm topics. No department is neglected, but every feature is taken care of with the idea of making The Blade worth many times the price of subscription—one dollar a year. Sample copies mailed free. Address,

Enlarging Your Business

If you are in business and you want to make more money you will read every word we have to say. Are you spending your money for advertising in haphazard fashion as if intended for charity, or do you advertise for direct results?

Did you ever stop to think how your advertising can be made a source of profit to you, and how its value can be measured in dollars and cents. If you have not, you are throwing money away.

Advertising is a modern business necessity, but must be conducted on business principles. If you are not satisfied with your advertising you should set aside a certain amount of money to be spent annually, and then carefully note the effect it has in increasing your volume of business; whether a 10, 20 or 30 per cent increase. If you watch this gain from year to year you will become intensely interested in your advertising, and how you can make it enlarge your business.

If you try this method we believe you will not want to let a single issue of this paper go to press without something from your store.

We will be pleased to have you call on us, and we will take pleasure in explaining our annual contract for so many inches, and how it can be used in whatever amount that seems necessary to you.

If you can sell goods over the counter we can also show you why this paper will best serve your interests when you want to reach the people of this community.

KASH & SAMPLE, Dealers in General Merchandise,

The Right Kind of Reading Matter

The home news; the doings of the people in this town; the gossip of our own community, that's the first kind of reading matter you want. It is more important, more interesting to you than that given by the paper or magazine from the outside world. It is the first reading matter you should buy. Each issue of this paper gives to you just what you will consider spent at home reacts in its benefits with an unceasing general profit. Sent out of town it's life is ended. Kept with the home merchants it is a messenger of continuous benefit. Business men should awake to the importance of keeping this dollar at home and make a bid for it by judicious advertising.

The Family Physician

The best medicines in the world cannot take the place of the family physician. Consult him early when taken ill. If the trouble is with your throat, bronchial tubes, or lungs, ask him about taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Then take it or not, as he says.

THE HERALD.

To not sassy and look vicious is a great help in a fight.

Burkhart correspondence came in too late for publication.

Born, November 22, to the wife of Rowla Gibbs, of Gillmore, a boy.

One way not to have a good time is to spend your time in looking for it.

Troy C. Pieratt arrived here Sunday from Winchester to spend the winter.

Sam Kash was over on the farm Monday and finished dividing up the rent corn.

No man believes that he makes any extra trouble around the house when he is sick.

Miss Lola Young left Wednesday for Jackson to visit her brother, Frank Young.

Rev. John Barker will conduct religious services at Consolation next Sunday, 5th inst.

Clifford Nickell, representing Trimble Bros., of Mt. Sterling, was in town Tuesday night.

Misses Ora Campbell and Mae Williams were guests of Mrs. R. H. Patton last Thursday night.

It would help some men if they would only wait to be led into temptation instead of looking it up.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Roger Bryan, of Lexington, interviewed our merchants Tuesday evening as to their needs of groceries, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Elam, of Elmore, were visiting his brother, B. F. Elam, and family, Saturday and Sunday.

Only a few weeks until Christmas and none of our merchants seem to think it necessary to advertise holiday goods.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Pieratt will soon move here from Winchester and take charge of Rittenhouse Ranch, at Swango Springs.

If some of our delinquent subscribers would bring us a few bushels of corn, either shelled or in the ear, it will be highly appreciated.

A slight wreck on the O. & K. railway Saturday delayed the arrival of mail here until Monday, when an extra supply came to hand.

Noah Tibbs and Alf Creech traded horses the other day, and now Noah owns one of the little grays formerly belonging to Chas. Rose.

Quite a crowd of young folks from town were delightfully entertained Saturday evening at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Berry James.

The editor of this paper left Monday morning to take a course of medical treatment in an Indiana sanitarium, and his many friends hope he will soon return completely restored to health and feeling twenty-five years younger.

Some Queer Accidents.

A Texas editor, while glancing over the papers, has discovered a number of cases where many good inoffensive people have been injured in various parts of the anatomy. Here are a few cases cited: While Miss Kinsmore, of East Wind, Ind., was coming down the stairs, Tuesday, she slipped and bruised herself on the landing. Amos Mittlebe, of Woolpose, Kan., while harnessing a fractious horse was kicked just south of the corn crib; he is able to be about again. While Herold Green, of Bulah, Miss., was escorting Miss Violet Goof home from a church social, Saturday night, a savage dog set upon them and bit Miss Goof four times on the public square. Joseph Tutt, of Grinnelsburg, Iowa, climbed on his house last week to find a leak, and fell, striking on his back porch, causing serious injuries. Isaiah Trimmer, of Dolberry, Neb., was playing with a cat Friday, when the animal severely scratched him on the veranda.

The Livingston (Tenn.) Enterprise, in speaking of the new school recently established in that town by the C. W. B. M., says: "The progress of our school is phenomenal. There are now over 350 in daily attendance. The public schools are still running over the county and as soon as they close the prospects are that at least 100 more will enter. Prof. Derthick has enlisted the co-operation of preachers by the offer of free tuition to the children of all active ministers or to the children of superannuated ministers. This offer, of course, does not actuate these church workers, but it shows the broad Christian liberality of the management. Another powerful influence comes of the hearty support the county court and other officials are giving the school. Let us be thankful we have such an institution in our county."

The bazaar to be held by Ladies' Aid Society next week is progressing nicely. Donations have been coming in quite satisfactorily and it now seems that the three beneficiaries—the Cemetery Association, the Methodist church and the Christian church, will each receive a snug little sum for their treasury. Don't forget the time and place—J. T. Day's vacant store, formerly occupied by Cecil Bros., and Saturday, December 11.

The greatest danger from influenza is of its resulting in pneumonia. This can be obviated by using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, as it not only cures influenza, but counteracts any tendency of the disease towards pneumonia. Sold by all dealers.

The ladies' bazaar, at J. T. Day's vacant store room, Saturday, December 11, will have an assortment of many useful and ornamental articles worthy of your consideration.

Trent council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held a splendid Thanksgiving service last week at Laurel church. The services were conducted by Revs. Jeff D. Edwards and J. D. Hunter.

If you want to relish a good old-time chicken pie dinner go to the ladies' bazaar, Saturday, December 11, at early dinner time and help along a good cause, while at the same time you will get your money's worth.

No man or woman of the humblest sort can really be strong, gentle and pure without the world being better for it; without somebody being helped and comforted by the very existence of that goodness.

The vote as tabulated by the state election commission in this judicial district is as follows: Circuit Judge—Redwine, 5,117; Adams, 4,531; Commonwealth's Attorney—Johnson, 4,953; Kash, 4,537.

Cashier R. H. Patton and his estimable wife entertained a few of their relatives and friends at a Thanksgiving dinner last Thursday. Those who participated in the royal feast were Dr. and Mrs. C. Hood Williams, Prof. and Mrs. M. O. Carter, Misses Mae Williams and Virginia Day.

Green Chambers came in from Beehouse, Okla., last week and is visiting relatives and friends in this section. He is a son of Elisha Chambers and his many friends are trying to make his visit a pleasant one. While here he sold a tract of land on Stillwater to B. D. Rose, of Campton, for $2,000.

At the recent meeting of Trent council, Jr. O. U. A. M., there were seven new members initiated, making it now one of the strongest in this section. The treasurer, T. C. Hall, was here Tuesday and after giving bond for the faithful performance of his duties deposited what money he had on hand in the Hazel Green Bank.

KENTUCKY KERNELS

Carefully Collected and Concisely Chronicled.

The diphtheria quarantine which has been on in Paris for about two weeks has been lifted, no new cases having developed.

While scuffling for the possession of a shotgun with his half-brother, Walter Sallee, Lon Jones was shot and killed near Burgin.

James King, under life sentence for murder, attempted to break jail at Reatville. Killed Christian escaped and is still at large.

The election recently held in Grayson county will be contested by all the defeated candidates except circuit clerk and representative.

J. H. Morton, colored, while returning home after cutting the throat of John Parriah, at Owenton, was shot to death by an unidentified person.

A number of women in Shelby county have formed a pool and are holding turkeys for 20 cents a pound on foot. Over 1,000 birds have been pooled.

By the "flipping of a coin" and "calling the turn," Charles Bellman was chosen page by the board of aldermen of Louisville after a deadlock in balloting for several days.

The board of trustees of Kuttawa have passed resolutions denying stories regarding night rider warnings received by citizens of that town, and claim that everything is quiet.

After lying for a week in the woods in a semi-conscious state with a broken hip and leg after a fall from a cliff 100 feet high, Martha Howell, aged 16 years, of Pike county, managed to crawl to a neighbor's house for relief.

The four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Funk, of Tady, in Daviess county, was scalded to death as a result of falling into a tub of hot water in the room with the mother. The child remained unconscious until its death.

Green Finn, colored, of Madison county, was arrested, charged with beating his wife almost to death. The woman stabbed him early in the day and was locked up. He secured bond for her and taking her home beat her with a club.

Charles Baker and Will Harris, Lexington negroes, looking to be uncommonly well dressed, were taken into custody and it was found they were attired in clothing that had been stolen at Nicholasville, and that there was more of the same plunder in two suit cases that they had left in a shoe shop. The negroes were sent to Nicholasville to answer the charge of burglary.

Troops will be furnished by the state to protect James Hall, formerly of Caldwell county, who will testify in the night rider cases at Princeton. Gen. Johnston ordered Capt. Henderson, of Company K, Third regiment, to proceed to Central City with a sufficient number of men and meet Hall there and take him to Princeton and guard him. Hall was formerly a night rider, and will testify in the night rider cases now in progress in Princeton. He has been living in Kansas.

Epilepsy, Fits

"My son was cured of a very bad case of epilepsy with Dr. Miles' Nervine."

MRS. D. BAKER, Cleveland, O.

"My little daughter who was afflicted with St. Vitus' Dance is now entirely well after taking Dr. Miles' Nervine only four months."

MRS. C. G. BENNETT,
Alma, Mich.

Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance and Spasms, are all nervous diseases. They have been cured in so many instances with Dr. Miles' Nervine that it is reasonable to conclude that it is almost sure to cure you. With nervous diseases of a severe type, persistent use has almost invariably resulted in a complete cure or lasting benefits, worth many times the cost of the remedy. The best evidence you can get of its merits is to write to those who have used it. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

In the Heart of a Storm.
New Land Sighted—Mid-Polar Basin a Lifeless World

[EIGHTH ARTICLE]

DURING two days of chilly bluster the sleds were forced along with encouraging results, and on the evening of March 26, with a pedometer and other method of dead reckoning for position, we were placed at latitude 84 degrees 53 minutes. The western horizon remained persistently undisturbed. A brisk storm, it seemed, was gathering, but it was a long time in coming eastward. On the evening of the 26th we prepared for the blast and built the igloo stronger than usual, hoping that the horizon would be cleared by a good blow on the morrow and afford us a day of rest. The long, steady marches, without time for recuperation, had begun to check our enthusiasm.

In the daily monotony of hardship we had learned to appreciate more and more the joy of the sleeping bag. It was the only animal comfort which afforded a relief to our life of frigid, and with it we tried to force upon the weary body in the long marches a pleasing anticipation.

In the evening, after the blocks of snow walled a dome in which we could ed the hummocks and piled up the snow in large dunes like the sands of home shores.

The snow house was not cemented with water. The tone of the wind did not seem to indicate danger, and, furthermore, we were beginning to realize the great need of fuel economy. We therefore did not deem it prudent to use oil for the fire to melt snow, except to quench thirst.

Not particularly anxious about the outcome of the storm and with senses blunted by overwork and benumbed with cold, we sought the comfort of the bags.

Buried Under the Snow.

Awakened in the course of a few hours by drifts of snow about our feet. It was noted that the wind had burrowed holes in the weak spots through the snow wall. Still, we were bound not to be cheated out of a few hours' sleep, and with one eye open we turned over. Later I was awakened by falling snow blocks.

Forcing my head out of the ice incased hood, I saw that the dome had been swept away and that we were being buried under a dangerous weight of snow. In some way I had tossed breathe the quiet air, the blue flame lamp sang the notes of gastronomical delights. A heaven given drink of ice water was first indulged in to quench the chronic thirst, and then the process of disrobing began, one at a time, for there was not room for all to act at once.

Tea in an Hour.

The fur stuffed boots were pulled, and the bearskin pants were stripped. Then half of the body was quickly pushed into the bag. A brick of pemmican was next taken out, and the teeth were set to the grind of this bonelike substance. The appetite was always large, but a half pound of cold withered beef and tallow changes a hungry man's thoughts effectually.

The tea, an hour in making, was now ready, and we rose on elbows to take it. Under the influence of the warm drink the fur coat with its mask of ice was removed. Next the shirt, with its ring of ice about the waist, comes off, giving the last sense of shivers. Pushing farther into the bag, the hood was pulled over the face, and we were lost to the world of ice.

The warm sense of mental and physical pleasure which follows is an interesting study. The movement of others, the sting of the air, the noise of rattling winds, the blinding rays of a heatless sun, the pains of driving snows and all the bitter elements were absent. The mind, freed of the agitation of frost, wandered to home and better times under these peculiar circumstances; there comes a pleasing sense with the touch of one's own warm skin, while the companionship of the arms and legs, freed of their cumbersome furs, makes a new discovery in the art of getting next to oneself.

In the Heart of a Storm.

On March 27 it blew a half gale at night, but at noon on the following day the wind eased. The bright sun and rising temperature were too tempting to remain quiescent, and, though the west was still darkened by threatening clouds, the dogs were put to the sleds and off they went among the wind swept hummocks. We had not gone many miles before the first rush of a storm struck us.

Throwing ourselves over the sleds, we waited the passing of the icy blast. There was no suitable snow near to begin the erection of a shelter, but a few miles northward was a promising area for camp, and to this we hoped to take ourselves after a few moments' rest. The squall soon spent its force, and in the wind which followed good progress was made without suffering severely. The temperature was 41 degrees below zero F. and the barometer 29.05.

Once in moving order, the drivers required very little encouragement to prolong the effort to a fair day's march in spite of the weather. As the sun settled in the western gloom the wind increased its fury and forced us into camp. Before the gloom was banished a steady, rasping wind brushabout sufficiently during sleep to keep on top of the accumulating drift, but my companions were out of sight and did not respond to a loud call.

After a little search a blowhole was located, and in response to another call came Eskimo shouts. Violent efforts were made to free their bags, but the snow settled on them tighter with each tussle.

I was surprised a few moments later as I was digging their breathing place open to feel them burrowing through the snow. They had entered the bag without undressing and half emerged with shirt and pants on, but without feet.

After a little more digging their boots were uncovered, and then, with protected feet, the bag was freed and placed on the side of the igloo. Into it the boys crept in full dress, except coats. I rolled out to their side in my bag.

Move on Refreshed.

The air came in hissing spouts, like jets of steam from an engine, but soon after noon of the 29th the ice under our heads brightened. It became possible to breathe without being choked with floating crystals, and as the ice about the facial furs was broken a little blue was detected in the west.

The dogs were freed of snow entanglements and fed, and a shelter was made in which to melt snow and make tea. A double ration was eaten, and then the sleds began to move again.

Soon the sun burst through the separating clouds and raised icy spires in towers of glitter. The wind then ceased entirely, and a scene of crystal glory was laid over the storm swept fields. With full stomachs, fair weather and a much needed rest, we moved with inspirations anew. Indeed, we felt refreshed as one does after a cold bath.

The pack had been much disturbed, and considerable time and distance were lost in seeking a workable line of travel. Camping at midnight, we had only made nine miles for a day's effort.

Awakening in time for observations on the morning of the 30th, the weather was found beautifully clear. The fog, which had persistently screened the west, had vanished, and land was discovered at some distance west, extending parallel to the line of march. The observations placed us at latitude 84 degrees 50 minutes, longitude 95 degrees 36 minutes.

A Long Coast Line.

In the occasional clearing spells for several days we had seen sharply defined land clouds drifting over a low band of pearly fog, and we had expected to see land when this veil lifted. We had, however, not anticipated to see so long a line of coast. The land as we saw it gave the impression of being two islands, but our observations were insufficient to warrant such an assertion. They may be islands; they may be a part of a larger land extending far to the west. What was seen of the most southerly coast extends from 83 degrees 20 minutes to 83 degrees 51 minutes, close to the one hundred and second meridian.

This land has an irregular mountainous sky line, is perhaps eighteen hundred feet high and resembles in its upper reaches the highlands of Helberg Island. The lower shore line was at no time visible.

From 84 degrees 23 minutes, extending to 85 degrees 11 minutes, close to the one hundred and second meridian, the coast is quite straight. Its upper surface is flat and mostly ice capped, rising in steep cliffs to about twelve hundred feet. The lower surface was so indistinctly seen that we were unable to detect glacial streams or ice walls. Both lands were hopelessly buried under accumulated snows.

We were eager to set foot on the newly discovered coast, for we believed then, as proved by later experience, that these were the earth's northernmost rocks, but the pressing need for rapid advances in the aim of our main mission did not permit of detours. Resolutions were re-enforced and energy was harbored to press onward for the pole in an air line.

Fair Marches Made.

Every observation, however, indicated an easterly drift, and a westerly course must be continuously forced to counterbalance the movement. A curtain was drawn over the land in the afternoon of March 31, and we saw no more of it. Day after day we now pushed along in desperate northward efforts. Strong winds and fractured, irregular ice increased the difficulties. Progress was slow.

In one way or other we managed to gain a fair march between storms during each twenty-four hours. In an occasional spell of stillness mirages spread screens of fantasy out for our entertainment. Curious cliffs, odd shaped mountains and inverted ice walls were displayed in attractive colors. Discoveries were made often, but with clearer horizon the deception was detected.

On April 3 the barometer remained steady and the thermometer sank. The weather became settled and clear. The pack became a more permanent glitter of color and joy. At noon there was now a dazzling light, while the sun at midnight sank for but a few moments under a persistent northerly haze, leaving the frosted blues bathed in noonday splendor.

In these days we made long marches. The ice steadily improved. Fields became larger and thicker, the pressure lines less frequent and less troublesome. Nothing changed materially. The horizon moved; our footing was seemingly a solid crust of ice, but it shifted eastward. All was in motion. Often we were too tired to build snow houses, and in sheer exhaustion we bivouacked in the lee of hummocks. Here the overworked body called for sleep, but the mind refused to close the eye.

In a Lifeless World.

There was a weird attraction in the anomaly of our surroundings which aroused the spirits. We had passed beyond the range of all life. For many days we had not seen a suggestion of animated nature. There were no longer footprints to indicate other life; no breath spouts escaped from the frosted bosom of the sea.

Even the sea algae of the surface waters were no longer detected. We were alone, all alone, in a lifeless world. We had come to this mental blank in slow but progressive stages. As we sailed from the barren areas of the fisher folk along the outposts of civilization the complex luxury of the metropolis, was lost and the brain called for food.

Beyond, in the half savage wilderness of Danish Greenland, there was the dawn of a new life of primitive delight. Still farther along, in the Ultima Thule of the aborigines, the sun rose over the days of prehistoric days. Advancing beyond the haunts of man, we reached the noonday splendor of thought in times before man's creation.

Now, as we pushed beyond the habitat of all creatures, ever onward, into the sterile wastes, the sun sets. Beyond were night and hopelessness. With eager eyes we searched the dusky plains of frost, but there was no speck of life to grace the purple run of death.

In this mid-polar basin the ice does not readily escape and disentangle. It is probably in motion at all times of the year, and in the readjustment of the fields following motion and expansion there are open spaces of water, and these during most months are quickly sheeted with new ice.

Measuring the Ice.

In these troubled areas we were given frequent opportunities to measure ice thickness, and from our observations we have come to the conclusion that the ice during one year does not freeze to a depth of more than about ten feet. But much of the ice of the central pack reaches a depth of from twenty to twenty-five feet, and occasionally we crossed fields fifty feet thick. These invariably showed signs of many years of surface upbuilding.

It is very difficult to surmise the amount of submerged freezing after the first year, but the very uniform thickness of the antarctic sea ice leads to the suggestion that a limit is reached in the second year, when the ice, with its cover of snow, is so thick that very little is added afterward from below.

Increase in size after that is probably in the main the result of addition to the superstructure. Frequent falls of snow, combined with the alternate melting and freezing of summer and a process similar to the upbuilding of glacial ice, are mainly responsible for the growth in thickness. The very heavy, undulating fields which give character to the mid-polar ice and escape along the east and west coasts of Greenland are therefore mostly augmented from the surface.

Why Suffer?

Are you one of the thousands of women who suffer from female ailments? If so, don't be discouraged, go to your druggist and get a bottle of Wine of Cardui. On the wrapper are full directions for use. During the last half century, Cardui has been established in thousands of homes, as a safe remedy for pain which only women endure. It is reliable, contains no harmful ingredients and can be depended on in almost any case.

Take CARDUI

It Will Help You

Mrs. Charles Bragg, of Sweetser, Ind., tried Cardui. She writes: "Tongue cannot tell how much Cardui has done for me. Before I began taking Cardui I could not do a day's work. I would work awhile and lie down. I shall always give praise to your medicine." Try Cardui.
